2. Asian American Studies 440 - Special Courses in the Asian American Studies Program (Green)
   Type of Proposal: New course
   Action from October 2012: Deferred, pending resolution of the following questions: 1) Is this a topics course, or a "basket course" that is solely intended to list other departments' or programs' courses as Asian American Studies courses? 2) The justifications and syllabus are appropriate for a 3-credit course. Further explanation is required for the 1-, 2-, and 4-credit options, including a syllabus for each credit option (or, if there is one syllabus for all the credit options, each credit option must be clearly defined).
   Update: Asian American Studies provided the following information: 1) This is a variable "Topics" for Asian American Studies that does not have the ethnic studies designation. All our other "Topics" courses have the ethnic studies designation. Because we occasionally offer a course as a meets with, we need a course number that does not have the ethnic studies designation so it can be matched with the meets with course that does not have the ethnic studies designation. We are not allowed to do a meets with a course where one has the e designation and the other course does not. 2) Course was changed from 0-4 variable credit to a standard 3 credit course. 3) Updated syllabus and proposal are provided.
