CALS Time-to-Degree by Peer Program

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

AAU Public Average Elapsed Calendar Years to Degree

UW-Madison Average Elapsed Calendar Years

CALS Time-to-Degree by Peer Program

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.
Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.
College of Letters and Science (Arts and Humanities Division) Time-to-Degree by Peer Program

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

*Note: Afro-American Studies is not included on this chart. In 2014 the average time-to-degree was 11.26 years (3 graduates) and the AAU Public Peer Average was 4.72 Years.
Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.
College of Letters and Science (Social Studies Division) Time-to-Degree by Peer Program

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

AAU Public Average Elapsed Calendar Years

UW-Madison Average Elapsed Calendar Years

College of Letters and Science (Social Studies Division) Time-to-Degree by Peer Program

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.
Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.
Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.
Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is shorter than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.

Majors on this side of the dotted line have an average time-to-degree that is longer than the average of similar programs at peer institutions.