Re:    Discontinuation of HDFS Named Options

Date:  April 2, 2015

Upon the recommendation of the Department of Human Development and Family Studies, the School of Human Ecology Academic Planning Council voted on March 23, 2015 to discontinue the named options in a) Child Development and b) Family Studies for the B.S. degree major in Human Development and Family Studies. The department revised their curriculum and stopped enrolling students in the specific options in 2012. Having just the one major without options is working well with a total of 266 students enrolled. All students who had been enrolled in the named options have graduated so the options are no longer needed. This is to request that the change be advanced to the University Academic Planning Council for action.

Thank you in advance for your assistance. Please let me know if there are questions or if any additional information is needed.
