
UW-Madison Program Review Summary: Reviews Reported in the Past 10 Years

Based on deans' reports on program review as of July 2008.

Major programs are listed by School/College. Capstone programs have been added to listings.

A check in the left "reviewed in past 10 years?" column indicates a program review has been reported for the major in the past 10 years. The "year of most recent review" column lists the most recent review reported since 1984-85. Reviews reported before that date are not shown on this report.

Types of Program Review:

Institutional Reviews - Periodic reviews of each program initiated by school/college deans.

Institutional/USDA Reviews - Periodic reviews of several departments in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences, jointly with the USDA - Cooperative State Research, Education and Extension Service (CSREES).

Joint Reviews - mandatory review of new academic programs by UW System and UW-Madison scheduled approximately five years following implementation of the program.

Accreditation - specialized accreditation of programs by external accrediting agencies, may serve as program reviews.

New Programs. New programs will appear as not reviewed in past 10 years; they are scheduled for joint review approximately five years after implementation. Implementation records are listed as "NEW".

Renamed or Reorganized Programs. For programs that have been renamed or reorganized, the review history of the originating programs is carried with the new programs where possible. For programs that have been renamed or reorganized recently those changes may not be reflected in this report.

This summary report was printed from the Program Review Database. Updates and changes to the Program Review Database or requests for more detailed information may be directed to Jocelyn Milner.

Sources for the Program Review Database: 1988 to present, "Program Review and Program Planning" in the UW-System yearly report to the Regents, originating from annual Dean's reports on program review. Earlier information from Academic Planning office records, including the "Schedule of Academic Program Review Activities 1973-1983".
