Sources: UW-Madison Retention Awards Dataviews. Counts effective as of October 1, 2016

Status: indicates major programs that have been implemented (New), discontinued (Ended), or renamed (Renamed) in the past 10 years.

For renamed and reorganized programs, antecedent programs are included in the trend counts under the new name

LowEnmt: Indicates a major in which fewer than five degrees have been awarded in the last five years. See Policy on Program Review and Low Enrollment Majors

Counts are given as the count of degree majors. For example, a student earning two majors and one degree in one term is counted twice, once in each major.

Counts are a sum of awards in the summer, fall, and spring term.

Sources: UW-Madison Retention Awards Dataviews. Counts effective as of October 1, 2016

Status: indicates major programs that have been implemented (New), discontinued (Ended), or renamed (Renamed) in the past 10 years.

For renamed and reorganized programs, antecedent programs are included in the trend counts under the new name

LowEnmt: Indicates a major in which fewer than five degrees have been awarded in the last five years. See Policy on Program Review and Low Enrollment Majors.

Recently approved majors in which no degrees have been awarded are not listed.

Counts are given as the count of degree majors. For example, a student earning two majors and one degree in one term is counted twice, once in each major.

Counts are a sum of awards in the summer, fall, and spring term.

Note: In 2011 three Master's level programs in Professional careers (Master of Physical Assistant Studies (MED), Master of Public Health (MED) and Master of Legal Institutions (LAW)) are now reported as Master's Degrees, to

Sources: UW-Madison Retention Awards Dataviews. Counts effective as of October 1, 2016

Status: indicates major programs that have been implemented (New), discontinued (Ended), or renamed (Renamed) in the past 10 years.

For renamed and reorganized programs, antecedent programs are included in the trend counts under the new name

LowEnmt: Indicates a major in which fewer than five degrees have been awarded in the last five years. See Policy on Program Review and Low Enrollment Majors.

Recently approved majors in which no degrees have been awarded are not listed.

Counts are given as the count of degree majors. For example, a student earning two majors and one degree in one term is counted twice, once in each major.

Counts are a sum of awards in the summer, fall, and spring term.

Note: In prior years, Clinical Doctorate Degrees were listed as Professional Degrees. Language has been adjusted to match the new IPEDS degree categories. Some programs formerly counted as part of the professional degree counts are now in the master's degree counts, per IPEDS classifications.
